Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on Sept. 19, 2002 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.
3. Claims 1, 8, and 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Rodriguez (US 2,200,935, cited previously). Rodriguez '935 teaches a skateboard having an elongated deck (10), a plate (11') with a perimeter including sides and ends, and having a top surface directly abutting a lower surface of the deck (10), the plate perimeter being located within the deck perimeter; first and second trucks (14) located at opposing deck ends, and having respective pairs of wheels (16, 17), and connected to the deck (10) through fasteners such as bolts or screws (15), which pass through apertures in the plate (not referenced) in order to mount to the deck (10), wherein the plate is attached to the deck between the deck and mounting faces (18) of the trucks, the mounting faces of the trucks having a width of same dimension as the plate width (note also figure 2), the plate having a front extent which is flush with the front-most edge of the front truck mounting face.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.
5. Claims 2-6, 9-11, and 15-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Rodriguez (US 2,200,935).

Art Unit: 3618

As regards claims 2, 10, and 16, the reference of Rodriguez '935 fails to teach the plate as being made of a resilient plastic material. Resilient plastics are very well known in the manufacturing arts, and as such, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to make the plate of Rodriguez '935 from a plastic such as a polycarbonate, for the purpose of providing a plate which is both light weight and has a high impact strength, thus improving the life-span of the plate under use.

As regards claims 3, 11, 17 and 18, the reference of Rodriguez '935 fails to teach a specific thickness for the plate, however it is well known to adjust the thickness of structural members of a designed mechanism to meet a specific requirement, such as a height, and as such, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to adjust the thickness of the plate of Rodriguez '935 to between 0.1 and 0.33, or more specifically 0.25 inches, for the purpose of optimizing the height which is added to the skateboard by the use of the plate.

As regards claims 6, 9, and 15, the reference to Rodriguez '935 fails to teach the length as being equivalent to the span between the ends of the mounting bases (the front extents being flush, but the rear extents having an overhang), however it is well known to decrease the size of manufactured elements for the purposes of using lesser quantities of material, and as such, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to size the plate of Rodriguez '935 to be equal to the distal end span of the mounting bases of the wheel trucks for the purpose of achieving an incremental reduction in cost of manufacturing the board.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's comments, directed to the previously set forth rejections based upon the reference to Rodriguez (US 2,330,147) have been considered and are persuasive. The previously set forth rejections have been withdrawn. Please note the other Rodriguez reference, US 2,200,935, cited previously and now applied.
